Dear Readers

The atmosphere of our school is electrified with enthusiasm and adrenaline as it is the month of October, the month of Athletics. Many students have participated in various field and track events in being the proud representatives of their respective houses. The dedication and loyalty of students are such lovely sight to behold.

As we inch closer to sports day, the air of enthusiasm is getting thicker and thicker as the concerned house masters and students double their effort. Like every year on sports day, the day would begin on customary class wise march past. Students are all geared up for the preparation in attempt to put their classes in the forefront.

Though this year, new act in the form of Zumba dance would surely add spice to the most anticipated day on our school's calendar. If the early indications during rehearsals are anything to go by, the crowd could be in for a wonderful treat. And this would then be followed by calisthenics display to convey profound messages via formation by senior students and dumbbell display by junior students.

Without a shadow of doubt, this month is the most interesting and enthusiastic month of the year. And witnessing all houses' determination to get the coveted trophy, the competition is thriving in the air and is palpable to everyone.

Yet another puzzles

- Karma Dolkar Tsomo, XII B Sc.

Sometimes life is simply hard. It is and I can feel every bit of it. Sometimes you just hit the rock bottom and your world stops. You see that the world continues to swift normally for everyone and you seem completely wrong, during those times. It also seems as if the crack keeps on getting bigger as the time pace by. One more struggle, one more loss, one more rumor, and one more thing you've got to carry, you're on your already heavy load. It can be devastating and tears may come. Many of them fear and long for things to be different or back to the way they were or just to stay the same. Life seems like a mess of puzzle pieces without a picture that don't seem to fit together. But then something happens, little by little, step by step, you're going to have to start to put up a fight. It's not going to happen quickly and it's not going to be a walk in a park. Maybe it's a new day or maybe it's a moment but somehow our pose starts to unfold. The reason starts to become clear why things had to happen like that. As painful or hard life-changing as it may be, you'll learn, you'll learn that sometimes life is just hard, but it doesn't ever stay the same. It's a season and it's going to pass away and something new is going to come in its place. So I guess the secret is while the pieces are falling off, stay strong and keep believing in yourself that all of the struggles are giving you strength and loss in the universe is setting you ready for a time you're going to need a little less to carry.

Life is not a wish-granting factory

- Tashi Palmo, XII B Sc.

Each and everyone of us merge out with big wishes and expectations but we don't dare to walk on it. We complain about our boring life but we don't try to change it with our ways. In all, we have tons of wishes and complaints in one hand but don't know the word 'gratitude' to feel this gratefulness about the platform we are provided with.

We need to appreciate this great exciting life we are in. This rollercoaster will play the game. We need to live this life in such a way like it would never rewind again. We must always be present to taste every moment of our lives. So that when you are at you last breathe, you will feel the satisfaction about your life. The most important thing is that you should be aware of what you are doing with your life. The joyous and depressing moments are the important moments which you need to be carrying with yourself throughout the life. So, it's absolutely normal about bursting out in smile and tears in any moment. When circumstances occur, we have every right to burst out or break down because that would be another initiator point where your life will begin again. You need to accept that ups and downs are the part of you beautiful life. In whole, this life is an outreach which nobody would understand but you need to keep fighting and walking against the whole rollercoaster. At the end of the day, ask yourself "did you live well?"

School life yet to end

- Ngawang Sangpo, XII D (C)

This is the last year of my school life, so I'm feeling nervous about it. This year is about to end soon and when I flash back the day starting from the opening function of the school, I remember the memories I had made with my friends by playing football matches. Our school routine passed under the rings of bell for prayer time, self study and class hours. Then, came the most awaited holiday known as summer holiday. It got over so fast like a blink of an eye and it passed away by chilling out with friends and sleeping and waking up way too late.

Then our holiday ended and again our school began I hate going to class but I have to as per the school rules and regulations. Though of shining and ranking top of the classes but didn't achieve because of the mistakes that I made in class, which I realized and regretted afterwards. As I go through my school diary, now I realize that school life is becoming way too short and so the year is ending way too fast. The stupid things that I did was sleeping in class or eating eatables during class hours. What I had done in past will never change. I want to convey a message to the reader that 'time waits for none'. So do your work on time without delay and don't do something which will make you regret afterwards.

A change in my life after watching a video clip

- Ten Saldon, XII B Comm.

Few days ago, I saw a video clip in which there involved a whole village stated in Africa. People of that village ate the food made by mud. The reason for which they ate mud was because the village or the part of Africa were already dried up and there were no water to be seen in their area. If there is no water then there will be no food, which is why they ate mud. Two or three ladies boiled mud and mixed it with some salts. They later pour it on the floor which is dried up by the sun later they fed it to their children and their people. After that, I changed and I didn't waste my food. I don't waste food like any other girls in our hostel. I had an argument with my friend when she wasted some food. People who throw food make me very angry. Sometimes I even argue with them. This was the change in my life after watching a video clip.

And that's how I feel

- Kongra Tsering, XII B (C)

12 years; not as long as I expected it would be. Time passed so quickly and I still remember that day, 6th March 2007 when I joined this family and was happily accepted. A lot of things have changed in those years I have spent with my family, so many lessons that I have been taught by my elders. While I learnt to walk alone, I fell a lot of times but there was nothing to worry cause I had my brothers, sisters and parents with me and now that I can run they are still here cheering up for me. Things have really changed, the way I think, the way I talk, my size and a lot more. But one thing will be the same, the day I first joined and the day when I will leave the family because I know I will miss my family and the memories I had in my home away from home. Thank you TCV.

Accepting yourself

- Tenzin Chungdak, XII P (C)

You know what's one of the biggest problems these days? The biggest problem these days is people are not satisfied with themselves. They don't accept how they are. And maybe that is one of the reasons success doesn't appear.

We all should first accept ourselves how we are both outer and inner ways. If we accept it, we will be able to change it. There are still lots of people who don't accept themselves and if we look carefully in the society these are the people who always create problems. Not only for themselves, but for others too.

Reasons why they don't accept themselves could be ego, anger and etc. and on the other side, people who know themselves very well and accept it, they try to keep away their unwanted habits and approve themselves to be more successful.

And a sad thing is that some people don't accept their physical appearance and discourages themselves for doing anything. Whereas people like Nick who don't have both hands and legs but still lives a very fantastic life.

So at the end I would like to say accept yourself, love yourself and be happy.

Stream Choice

- Tenzin Sherab Teshe, XI B

Every single student in this school might have heard the word "stream choice". But does anyone really know the meaning of this crucial word? If not sure on it let me share my opinion on it. Stream choice is the first major educational stage where you can make your own decision by yourself. On the basis of your talent and interest, there are three streams waiting for you and those are science, commerce and arts. In each particular stream, there are different subjects you need to learn.

First one is science, in science there are many subjects but the main subjects are Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Math and Computer Science. If one is interested in Medical or engineering field or both, you can choose this stream. The most important thing here matter is that you must need to have hard work and dedication. You will find many things to learn but if you really learn through interest, you might feel very light and life would be joyous. And always be optimistic and consistency is must.

Secondly in commerce, the main subjects are business studies, accountancy, economics, followed by math. In this stream, intelligence and openmindedness is must. On who is interested in becoming a business or an accountant or famous CEO'S this is the right stream for you. I see many of my lazy friends choosing this stream; one might have chosen this stream because of their talent and interest but most of them have taken this stream very lightly. One must be serious about one's own future.

Last one is arts. In arts, you will learn geography, political science, history and economics (same in commerce). It consists of occupations like journalist, geologist, a unique historian etc. if you opt for it, be a great thinker and one should also be creative.

What are common in all the streams are hard work, interest, talent and regularity. If you want to succeed, you must know yourself love yourself and love what you do. Influence can be bad. Think wisely and be a great person.

Be the real version of yourself

- Tenzin Pema, XI B

"Don't let yourself become what others want you to be, just be yourself and believe in yourself."

This quote may look kind of self-interest or self-regard but I think it may work on some people as it has worked for me and I hope that I will give some motivation to those.

Most people think of what others think of them and act the other way of who they really are. Rather than doing what they like, they do what others expect from them. Instead of thinking of what others say, try being you, then only will you have true happiness?

We can say that, it's because of the excessive self-conscious and insecurity we feel like being worried and awkward about what other people might think about you. The roots of this problem lie within you. If you doubt to love yourself, no one else will.

If you don't appreciate to learn yourself of what you really are then you will never be content with anything.

So, start loving yourself and appreciate the real you. And start anew on a positive note. Face every rejection, because you love yourself and nothing matters as long as you are true to yourself.

Education

- Tenzin Sherap B

Since the beginning of men's life, men had the urge to learn and teach. They call it survival skill, we know it as education. These two are similar during that time. Without these, one won't survive the wilderness. But these days without a good education, you won't be able to live a happy life.

Someone once said "a pen is mightier than sword". He meant to say that with knowledge and wisdom everything can be achieved.

You may meet people in life, who say education is not the key to success. Well let me tell you that education is key to success. "Don't believe me?" take an example, take a look at the richest people in world; they made it there by education.

Self-acceptance

- Karma Tsokey, XI D Sc.

Self-acceptance is a process of accepting what you are. We all know that we are what we believe and what we do. We are not a puppet but a human that live once, we should know that the chance to reborn as human is lesser than a patient recovering from an incurable disease. But we have it and we should feel we are the lucky ones.

It's okay that you are poor, differently abled, uneducated or unemployed; we should be able to accept ourselves. "It's not our fault we are poor but it is if we die poor". So, by knowing the importance of our life, we should accept one self and keep improving. Even if you are the best or the richest human in the world, there will always be a room for improvement. We should feel fortunate that we are still alive, that sun still shines on you. The wind still blows and we could breathe. Instead of saying that you hate yourself and you must say you love who you are.

"God helps those who help themselves". So if we can't even accept ourselves, then how come we will help ourselves. Due to self-acceptance we can overcome most things in the world.

Lastly, I want to say that feel secure and accept what you are. It is the only way you would be happy and be proud of yourself. The more you accept yourself, the more you know about you, the more you will live and the more you glow.

The Bright Light

- Dhundup Lhamo

Khangtsertsang, X D

In this dark world on 6th July, 1935, a sudden light shone. In a country called Tibet. In the age of 16, we don't even know clearly much about leadership but that bright light in the age of 16 took the responsibility of a whole country. He became the great leader of our religion and politics. Till 1959, it shone bright inside its region surrounded by the Snow Mountains. But at the time, the bright light and its people were in danger. On the request of its people, he started his journey to India with 1000 of his people. He faced many obstacles but he never gave up as he knew that 6 million people depended on him and believe in him. The bright light has the self-confidence to do everything and anything he wanted as he approaches it with kindness, compassion and passion. When the bright light went with his people to the neighboring country India he neither showed any signs of aggression or arrogance. He asked Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru for a place for him and his people for refuge. He willingly accepted. After 1959, the bright light started shining all over the world. The bright light believes that "whether one is rich or poor, educated or illiterate, religious or atheist, man or woman, black or white. We are all the same. Physically, emotionally and mentally we are all equal. We share basic needs for food, shelter, safety, and love. We all aspire for happiness and we all shun suffering. Each of us has hopes, worries, fears and dreams. Each of us wants the best for our family and loved ones. We all experience pain when we suffer loss and joy when we achieve what we seek. On this fundamental level, religion, ethnicity, culture and language make me different. Now, lastly let me tell you that this bright light is none other than our spiritual leader, His Holiness the 14 Dalai Lama.

You are peanut to my Butter

- Tenchoedon, XI D

Best friends are hard to find because the very best one is already mine. You're the peanut to my butter, the star to my burst, the pop to my tart, the fruit to my loop. But most importantly, you're the best of my friend.

I have many friends but my best friend is you. You are the one whom I can share all the experiences at home and school. You love me dearly and unconditionally. You are always ready to help me whenever I fall sick or need anything. You nurse me with affection and showered me with love. When I have difficulties and doubts in my studies, you teach me patiently. You never expect anything of me, but shares all that she has. I too try to be kind and helpful to you but you are always the kinder and more loving one between us. I can never thank you for all that you did for me.

You are fun-loving person and I enjoy being with you. When I went to TCV Selakui last year, I missed you very badly. For me, you are brilliant. I have learnt many good values because of our friendship.

As I have written before, you are a friend who means much to me and I love you to the moon and back. I can't express my feelings when I first met you but I hope this essay will do it for me. My dear everything, I wish our friendship will last longer than forever.

Dear Departed

- Kalsang Lhadon, X B

"If tears could build a stairway and memories a lane, I'd walked right up to heaven and bring you back home again."

I don't know that my life would be so hard without you, you left me alone and that was the worst thing that ever happened in my life. It's been five years and I don't know how I managed my life without you. Day and night I bear in pain but I never shown up. I although used to smile in front of people but no one know the pain inside me. My hatred for these people is still there and I feel pity for them, guess what your photos were being spread on social media and for unexpected thing it was widely spread. About our family, we were in pain and missing you was our biggest problem. Even though when I went to school, my classmates used to ask me about you and that would hurt me a lot. Coming back home without seeing you was painful while the world rejoiced, our family was in pain. We were in great need of you. Say you won't let go but at the end you did. Although you left us alone but still were holding on our life with a smile on our face. Dear dad, I dislike living in a world without you and till I become grey or old, my heart will always miss you. No one can take your place in my heart. I love you daddy.

Gratitude

- Tenzin Rangdol, IX D

Yesterday is history,
Tomorrow is mystery
But, today is a gift
That's why it's called present,
So be grateful for it

Let me first give you the meaning of the word gratitude. It means thankfulness or to appreciate and to return the kindness.

Nowadays I find many youngsters finding themselves unhappy or being in depression, which I think that is mostly due to the lack of gratitude. You getting a three square of nutritious meals and still complain about the taste, think about all the people out there dying from hunger. You getting an advice about your life from your teachers and blaming that the scold was uncalled for. Think about they work day and night just to teach you guys the lessons in the best possible way. Without complaining about the salary which we all know is not much.

To show your gratitude you don't need to buy any fancy gifts and stuff that are way beyond your purse, all you have to do is go up to them and tell them thank you. So finally I would conclude here by giving a quote.

Love the life you live,
Live the life you love.

A Slug in my Room- Ngawang Chooney (Mrs.),*Staff

*A slug in my room,
In my cozy room,
Above the hospital,
Above the Salem hospital.
It was raining,
There was lightning,
Thunder too,
The normal light,
Seemed to be in a fight.
And then,
I noticed,
The Slug,
The baby slug,
Moving slowly,
But actually,
Feeling funny!
I laughed at myself,
It was late at night,
It was right,
I did what was right.
Saved by the broom,
In my cozy room.*

Saved from redemption- Kalsang Choedon, XII B Sc.

*Thy walked the earth
For a safe haven to be,*

*Thy can't find
A single place to be.*

*At mid of night
Thou stood bright as star
Invited I to a feast
And to dine with thou,*

*As thy dined in thou presence
A warm halo
Lighten the dim rom
Enchanting yet fearful*

*Thy scared and frightened
Ran from the room
Yet thou stood blocking the path
An' spread the mesmerizing wings*

*In voice of Raizel
Thou spoke "wings of redemption,
Save thee soul
In thy's presence
An' wings of purification
Purify thee 'soul of sinful tact's"*

*Thy knelt in pain an' anger
Like Lucifer
Thy was saved
From being damned.*

(Poem dedicated to teachers who always save students from wrong path)

Our fading Legacy- Tenzin Kalden, X D

*Once the place of paradise,
Full of wealth, culture and tradition,
A place where people are beloved,
Where our legends were born.*

*But that overwhelming legacy,
Is slowly and painfully fading,
Beautiful landscapes turning into desert,
Soft earth being ruthlessly dug.*

*Where are our Tibetan youths?
Where are our culture and traditions?
Where are our beautiful landscapes?
And where is our humanity?*

*Don't let your legacy fade away.
Don't let your mind change,
Don't let your body expose to western culture,
And don't let your country fade away!*

Twilight- Tsering Yangzom, X D

*It was twilight, when I was alone,
Those gasbag has been finally dozed
off,
It's such a relief,
I am tired of hearing them,
Even the ants and crickets quit,
Their evening chatter,
I was happy at silence,
But anxious & nervous at darkness,
It was my intention that
I can't sleep as I am not tired.
But today is exceptional,
My heart began to complain,
About many things,
I rejected them,
No, it's not because of them,
I can't sleep, just thinking in the Middle of twilight,
Just because of you,
My dear school, I am going to miss you!*

Love Yourself- Kunsang Dechen, X D

*We all human beings,
Got very important opportunity,
To live a life
Which is very hard to get.*

*We face lots of situations in life,
We face lots of problems in life,
We face lots of unwanted things,
Come may, love yourself.*

*Some people hate themselves,
Because of his/her background,
Skin colour, religion, etc. but Really, does that make sense?*

*Love yourself, love your life,
Love your family & live a happy life.*

The Most Special day of my life

- Yeshi Khando, X D

*The two years of our moments,
Time flew like a butterfly,
Enjoyed every bit of time,
Which was my most special day.*

*At first we were strangers,
It was hard for conversation,
Hard to talk and laugh with,
But time changed quickly.*

*Soon we knew each other,
Understood each other's feelings,
Started to feel the pain,
When we were hurt.*

*This bond created a huge bloom,
That storm which made us unite,
The Unity of unbreakable,
Which is class X D.*

The superior game (Basketball)

- Tenzin Kalden, X B

*After 17 years,
I fall in love,
Not with girls,
But with Basketball.
Basket is in my vein,
Basket is in my blood,
I give you all my mind,
I give you all my time.
I was 7 years,
When I played basketball,
Which is made of my dad's socks.
I got my first basketball,
At the age of 12,
I played & played,
That I realized that,
I was born to play basketball.
I will work hard,
And will show the world what I can do,
So, one day when I pass,
People will say, 'Hey, that's Kalden'
The famous Basketballer.*

A Tribute to my father

- Tenzin Yangkey, X B

*Whenever the cold breeze blows,
Touches my face,
Past memories flashes in my mind,
Which never erased from my heart.*

*I still remember that day,
When I got my BP low,
And was hospitalized for a week,
And you didn't even sleep a wink.*

*Your care and love was too big,
That you even forget about your health,
You were the most greatest man of all,
Who helped everyone even the strangers.*

*I'm the most luckiest yet unluckiest also,
It's all my fault, Only if was never been born,
Then your burden might be low,
And you might be alive today.*

*I hate the thing called 'CANCER',
I was a child when I lost the precious you,
I still remember your tears rolling down,*

*Your cheeks before your last breath.
No matter where you are,
We are not together physically,
But our soul will always be together,
I love you & will do forever.*

My Insane Classmate

- Tenzin Kalsang, X B

*My insane classmate,
Sweet as sugar,
Cute like puppy,
When they are in bad mood,
Faces turn like scary ghosts.
We fought, we realized,
We laughed, we cried,
But most importantly,
We cared for each other.
One year & almost 10 months
passed,
Left now with only 2 more months,
With you guys,
I found the real happiness.
Most people said,
We need a map to find the treasure,
But I proved them wrong,
Because I found you guys without a map.
So, let us spend those 2 months,
With joy and happiness,
I will always remember you,
As you guys are my Insane Classmates.*

Jokes

A ham sandwich walks into the bar and orders for beer, bartender says “ sorry we don't serve food here”.

I am gonna order a pizza 5 mins before new year and when they come I am going to say I ordered this a year ago.

What did the duck say when it bought lipstick. He said “put it on my bill”.

Can you say it?

“Through three cheese trees three free fleas flew.

While these fleas flew,
freezy breeze blew.

Freezy breeze made these three trees freeze.

Freezy trees made these trees
cheese freeze.

That's what made these three free
fleas sneeze.”

Love yourself

- Sonam Wangmo, XII B Sc. (Editor)

Loving oneself is the most important thing a person can do. There is only one person that can understand you and that is you, yourself. And if you can't love yourself for whom you are than no one can do that for you.

As I think that at the current generation many people change themselves because of what other people say and start self-loathing or losing the faith and love for oneself. It is essential for a person to be reminded and told that you are beautiful the way you are. That Perfection does not exist. Be truthful to yourself. And remember that your flaws are a part of you, so try to embrace yourself with the strongest willpower. As Self-acceptance is the key to real happiness.

Self-acceptance is the key to real happiness.

INSPIRING SPEECH given by one of the person that many of our students idolize; Kim Nam Joon of bts at the United Nations.

I used to imagine that I was a superhero who could save the world. In an intro to one of our early albums, there's a line that says, 'My heart stopped when I was maybe nine or ten.' Looking back, I think that's when I began to worry about what other people thought of me, and started seeing myself through their eyes. I stopped looking up at the night skies, the stars, I stopped daydreaming. Instead, I just tried to jam myself into the molds that other people made. Soon, I began to shut out my own voice and started to listen to the voices of others." even after deciding to join BTS, there were a lot of hurdles."

Some people might not believe, but most people thought we were hopeless, and sometimes, I just wanted to quit. But I think I was very lucky that I didn't give it all up. And I'm sure that I, and we, will keep stumbling and falling like this. BTS has become artists performing in those huge stadiums and selling millions of albums right now, but I am still an ordinary 24-year-old guy. If there's anything I've achieved, it was only possible that I have my other BTS members right by my side, and because of the love and the support that our ARMY fans all over the world make for us.

After releasing our Love Yourself albums, and launching the Love Myself campaigns, we started to hear remarkable stories from our fans all over the world how our message helped them overcome their hardships in life and start loving themselves. Those stories constantly remind us of our responsibility. So let's take our one more step. We have learned to love ourselves, so I urge you to speak yourself. I like to ask all of you 'What is your name? What excites you and make your heart beat? Tell me your story.' I want to hear your voice. I want to hear your conviction. No matter who you are, where you're from, your skin color, your gender identity, just speak yourself. Find your name and find your voice by speaking yourself."

Karmapa title claimants meet, express willingness to heal divisions in the lineage

Oct. 11, 2018

In a move seen as truce between opposing claimants of the Karmapa title, the two main claimants of the title to the foremost religious head of the Karma Kagyu lineage of Tibetan Buddhism have met in a bid to “heal divisions” and “strengthen and preserve” the lineage. In a joint statement by Karmapa Ogyen Trinley Dorje and Karmapa Trinley Thaye Dorjee released on Thursday, the two said they met in a rural location in France recently “to spend time together so that we could establish a personal relationship. We were able to talk together freely and to learn about each other for the first time. We were thus able to begin what we expect will develop into a strong connection,” the statement read.

The two young Tibetan religious figures said that they talked about ways “to heal the divisions that have unfortunately developed within our precious Karma Kagyu lineage in recent years. We view it as our duty and responsibility to do whatever we can to bring the lineage together.”

Repression on multiple fronts in Tibet, says report by US Commission on China

Oct. 11, 2018

The 2018 report of a United State’s independent agency, the Congressional-Executive Commission on China (CECC), published Wednesday, said there is a growing repression on multiple fronts in Tibet. The report shows deteriorating freedom of religion, movement and expression, heightened surveillance, status of Tibetan culture and environment concerns inside

Tibet.

The Chair of the Commission Sen. Marco Rubio (R-Fla.) said, “China’s authoritarianism at home directly threatens our freedom as well as our most deeply held values and national interests. The joint statement with Co-Chair Rep Chris Smith (R-NJ) also said that human rights situation inside China including Tibet has steadily been on a downward trajectory with incumbent Chinese President Xi Jinping’s ascendancy in the Chinese Communist Party.”

The report pointed that the stall in dialogue between Beijing and the representatives of Tibetan leader His Holiness the Dalai Lama for the last nine years despite the latter’s relinquishment of independence demands for Tibet. His own reincarnation as well as that of religious figures in Tibetan Buddhism, the commission recommended, should be best left with the Tibetan people and not the Chinese government.

Second Tibetan wins China's singing reality show

Oct. 10, 2018

A Tibetan youth has won the top singing reality show of China, making him the second Tibetan to win ‘Sing! China’. Tenzin Nyima was declared the winner of the third season of the ‘Sing! China,’ popular Chinese singing talent show in Beijing last week. The Tibetan man who works as a teacher hails from Malho Tibetan Autonomous Prefecture in occupied Tibet’s eastern most region.

Nyima who performed a cover of a song by Inner Mongolian folk act Erguna Band during the finale of the show at the iconic ‘Birds Nest’ stadium on October 7 was named the victor. He was judged the winner at the finale episode among five finalists, one of which was another Tibetan.

Nyima’s rendition of Tibetan folk songs and refreshing covers of popular Chinese songs saw him appreciated by fans and judges alike, throughout the competition that began in July. He was mentored by singer-songwriter Li Jian in the competition.
